Summary

Till now, I have worked in sales oriented roles. It allowed me to get the gist of the work environment and get better at communicating. I have always been interested in the ways of computers and designs which is why I enrolled myself in a few classes back in India, my home country, and then decided to pursue it overseas, using CNC as a bridge to attain my bachelors eventually.

Moving forward, I am interesting in using my experience with sales and also would be interested in opportunities with a focus on designing.
